UTMB Students Named To College Honor Roll

Sixteen UTMB students were selected for membership in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. It is customary that these students be selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and participation in school activities. For the first time the Education department has two representatives, due to the new degree program. A student must be a junior before he can receive this honor.

Representing Liberal Arts are Hal Bishop, Greenfield; Thomas Cook, Ridgely; John Crenshaw, Trenton; and Tommy Sisk, Trenton.

From Home Economics are Joyce Bizzelle, Union City; Anne Meek Roney, Union City; Joyce Thomason, Martin ;and Lawanna Walker, Savannah.

The Education department has representing it Doris Hettinger, Memphis, and Vernon Adcock from White Creek.

The students are nominated by the various department heads and then voted on by a faculty committee.

STUDENTS ATTEND WORKSHOP AT DAVID LIPSCOMB

On October 25 and 26, Martha Thorne, Norma Schwam and Sallie Rogers attended the first annual College Clubs Workshop of the Tennessee Home Economics Association at David Lipscomb College in Nashville.

The objectives of the workshop were: (1) To strengthen THEA College Clubs; (2) To compile a state college clubs constitution; and (3) To provide leadership through Home Economics.

While on the D.L.C. campus participants of the workshop attended the Drama Club production of "Ladies in Waiting" and also visited the new Lipscomb Home Economics practice house which is in use for the first time this quarter.

The group was accompanied to Nashville by Miss Anna Creekmore and Miss Mary Ida Flowers, Advisors.

Stewart Recital Set For Tonight In College Gym

ROBERT STEWART

Robert Stewart, member of the Music Department, will present a public recital in the college gym tonight [illegible]. This will be Mr. Stewart's first public appearance since joining the Music Department this fall.

Mr. Stewart will present a varied program ranging from a choral prelude by Bach to a work by the modern Russian composer, Rachmaninoff. A feature will be the performance of the opening movement of the Beethoven Sonata in C# minor, more popularly known as the "Moonlight" Sonata. He will conclude with a performance of "La Campanella," by Paganini, transcribed for the piano by the great 19th century pianist, Franz Liszt.

Mr. Stewart majored in music at Drake University at Des Moines, Iowa, receiving both his B.A. and M.A. degrees in music. He later studied at Juilliard School of Music in New York. Before coming to UTMB he appeared frequently as a soloist and accom-

UTMB Annual Wins Top Class Rating For Second Straight Year

The UTMB VOLUNTEER won first class rating and national recognition by the Associated Collegiate Press for the second consecutive year for the '56-'57 edition. This honor is won on the basis of content and design of the annual and according to the classification of the college.

The ACP judges annuals from different schools and compares them in order to give them their respective rating. The judging is on the basis of theme, photography, display, design, coverage, originality, imagination, and ideas.

The '56-'57 edition of the annual was produced by Barbara Brooks and Betty Sample, with the assistance of student representatives of the various organizations on the campus. Professor Norman Campbell, head of the Physical Science department, was faculty advisor.

Janice Nowell and Robert Mullinks, co-editors of the '57-'58 edition of the UTMB VOLUNTEER, and Joyce Thomason, business manager, along with Mr. Campbell and the other annual representatives, are hard at work preparing for an even bigger and better annual than ever before.

The members of the annual staff include: Janice Nowell, Joyce Thomason and Robert Mullinks, editorial board; Kay Adkins, art; Martha Thorne and Patty Thurman, classes; Tom Glass and Rhonda Roush, features; Jack Shannon and Carol Reynolds, organizations; Ann Cox and Helen Hatcher, socials; and Perry Smith and Doris Hettinger, sports.

'Dr. Brandon Day' Lures Governor For Hurried Visit

On Sunday, November 10, "Dr. Brandon Day" was held in Martin. This day was a celebration of the 80th year of [illegible] service of Dr. R. W. Brandon [illegible].

A program was held in the UTMB gym and the guest speaker was the Governor of Tennessee, Frank Clement.

As it was Governor Clement who dug the cornerstone of the new Women's Residence Hall, he was scheduled on the daily program to visit the dormitory and if time allowed, to tour it.

After the presentation at the gym, the governor was escorted to the dormitory by Dean Paul Meek. Dean Meek introduced the president of the dorm, Doris Hettinger; the dormitory supervisor, Miss Virgie Harst; and the members of the Council. Governor Clement made his apologies for the hurried visit. After looking over the living room, he departed for Memphis, where he had a dinner engagement.

Chorus, Others To Present Annual 'Messiah' Dec. 8

The College Chorus, aided by others who enjoy singing, will present The Messiah Sunday, December 8, at 3:00 p.m. Nine selections will be sung by the chorus. One of these will be "Hallelujah."

Soloists will be Bettye Lynn Privett, Beth Goff, Tom Boone, Carlys Scates, and Mrs. Robert Swain. The director is Miss Fulton and the accompanist is Robert Stewart.

Carole Holladay, Ben Jones, Patsy Jones, Marvin Kelly, Kellie Lowe, Cynthia McIlwain, Betty Miles, Sarah Montgomery, Peggy Morris, Elizabeth Nelms, Carol Oliver, Rex Patterson, Beverly Pouncey, Glenda Pritchett, Bettye Privett, James Reeves, Linda Ross, Carlys Scates.

Thanksgiving Holidays To Begin Next Week

Students and faculty are looking forward to Thanksgiving November 28. The holiday will begin with completion of classes Wednesday and will end with the resumption of classes December 2.

Librarian Accepts New Position

Don Ferris, UTMB librarian, has accepted a position as agriculture department librarian at the University of Minnesota. Mr. Ferris will take over his new position December 1.

The University of Minnesota library has some 1,500,000 volumes in the stacks. The Ag. library is in a separate building and has over 50,000 volumes. Space is being cleared on either side of the building so that its facilities may be expanded.

Mr. Ferris came to UTMB in the fall of 1951 and has been librarian since then. During his six years, the total number of books has grown from 20,000 to slightly over 25,000.

Supper Club Band Will Appear At Veterans' Social

By CHARLES CALLIS

For the past several years the Veterans' Club has provided a casual type of entertainment for the students of UTMB by featuring a "Sadie Hawkins Dance." This year the Veterans have done their best to plan a social which will provide better entertainment for the study body.

Instead of the usual "Sadie Hawkins Dance" which was never considered a major social of the campus, the Vets have a real bundle of top-notch entertainment in store for everyone. Saturday night, November 23, the Veterans' Club will be offering everyone the dance music of Phillip Reynolds' Supper Club Band. If you haven't had the opportunity to hear the Supper Club Band in action, the Veterans' Club invites you to enjoy a new treat in dancing pleasure. Those who are familiar with

Theater Production Is Smash Hit Before Capacity Crowds

The Vanguard Theater production of the GLASS MENAGERIE was presented last week before capacity audiences. The famed Tennessee Williams play was given a highly professional performance by the cast.

Members of the cast were Mary K. Carrington as the mother, Jimmy Townsend as the son, Peggy Peeples as the daughter, and Kellie Lowe as the gentleman caller. All four showed perfect casting in the different roles and projected the characters in a manner that had the audience in complete rapport with the mood of the play.

Those who had seen Vanguard productions the past two years expected a professional performance and they were not disappointed. UTMB newcomers, students and faculty, were soon aware of the fact that under the brilliant direction of J. Robert Swain, UTMB has one of the top college theatrical groups of the South. Mr. Swain is a precisionist and the results are always apparent in a production that would do credit to a professional Broadway production.

Miss Carrington and Lowe were making their second appearance for Vanguard, while Townsend was appearing for the fourth time. Miss Peeples, a freshman, appeared in her first production.

Stage manager for the Glass Menagerie was Donald LaFont while J. Douglass Chandler was business manager and Charles Duncan house manager. Set was by Charles Pate and David McDowell and costumes by Margaret Hamer and Carole Holladay. Lights were by J. Douglass Chandler and Kellie Lowe and sound by Kellie Lowe, David McDowell and Charles Pate. Properties by Donald LaFont.

Vols End Season With Win Over Memphis Navy

UTMB's Vols [illegible] season [illegible] over Memphis Navy [illegible]. The win gave the Vols [illegible] mark for the year [illegible] best mark [illegible] school's history.

The win against Navy was especially pleasing to Vol coaches and players who felt that the team had looked bad the previous week as it dropped its only game, 31-13, to Baylor of Chattanooga. The win also saw the Vols come from a half-time deficit for the second time [illegible] at the half [illegible] they trailed [illegible] of the third quarter. Vols To Open Season With Athens College In Local Gymnasium

By MAURICE FIELDS

Coach Floyd Burdette's cagers open their regular season Friday night when Athens (Georgia) College will appear on the local floor. This will be the first time in several years that UT has played its college opener at home and a large crowd will be out to see the current edition.

The game will be the [illegible] between the two schools. In last year's game UT downed Athens by a 72-52 margin, and in the other game played several years ago UT went over the 100 mark against the Georgians.

The Vols will have most of last year's squad back as they attempt to start the season in winning fashion. Star of last year's Athens game was Ed Jones, who scored 21 points. Jones went on to set an all-time freshman scoring mark for UT before the season ended. Others who played against Athens and are sure to see action again Friday are Bill Rucker, last year's regular center, [illegible] forward this year, Don Hart, Dave Wilbanks, and Bob [illegible].

MISS CREEKMORE ATTENDS TEXTILES CONFERENCE

Miss Anna Creekmore, Textiles [illegible] in the Home Economics Department, attended the [illegible] Region Textiles [illegible] Conference November 14 and 15 at the University of Illinois in Urbana. This [illegible] conference gives textiles teachers an opportunity to get the latest [illegible] information and research. [illegible] Emphasis this year [illegible] economics of clothing and textiles.

[illegible] the most outstanding [illegible] in the field of textiles and [illegible] helped make this an inspirational as well as practical conference. Miss Creekmore was chosen to lead one of the discussion groups after the main speaker. Her topic for discussion was the economic aspects of clothing and textiles to freshmen and sophomores.

THANKSGIVING

As Thanksgiving [illegible] each one of us should stop to take a brief [illegible] and [illegible] we have to be grateful for. [illegible] thankful for a free country [illegible] that here in America we have the standards of free speech, free press, and most important free expression. These are things which we so often take for granted, but things that if destroyed would in turn destroy our American way of life.

As these holidays approach, let us each one stop and realize just how fortunate we are to be living in America — the land of the free and the home of the brave.

THE CULTURAL SIDE OF UTMB

Perhaps the most neglected phase of our campus life is that side which, if treated properly, could contribute much to our becoming more cultured and well-rounded citizens. We often fail to realize that functions such as dances, wiener roasts, and movies don't offer all the opportunities which we should want as young adults.

You may say that things other than the previously mentioned activities are not offered on the UTMB campus. But this is definitely not true. The truth of the statement lies in the fact that they are offered but not often acknowledged by the student body. The campus theater group, the music department, and the concert series often play to four walls rather than a room packed full of eager, interested students. Not only are we missing something when we fail to attend these functions, but we are letting our fellow students, who make these activities possible, down. If we could realize all the hard work that goes into making a production worthwhile, we probably would attend out of respect and gratitude alone.

Let's remember these things the next time we have the opportunity to attend something really worthwhile on our campus . . . let's show these people that we really appreciate them and what they are doing for each of us individually as well as for our college!

A New Era

Communism is a theory of government and social order according to which property and the instruments of production are held as a common trust and the profits rising from all labor devoted to the general good.

Today the people of the world have turned their eyes, even as they have done through all history, to the sky. What they see there is something far beyond the wildest dreams of their ancestors. For now the sunlight is not only reflected by a familiar yellowish moon, but also by a small round ball called "Sputnik." Who put it there? A simple answer—Russia. Just what effect has this had on the world? A question not so simple. In fact one which would be impossible to answer except possible in the passage of time. Even then who would be capable of giving answer? Surely not one of mortal birth. The epic of man has become so complex and so diverse that even though we conquer space we fail to conquer man.

It is not thought beyond the scope of any of us to realize that in this, the beginning of an era we shall call "space age," two completely opposite forms of government are engaged in a war. This war at present is a cold, yet the [illegible]

"Sputnik" [illegible] a mighty weapon, [illegible] more than balanced the scale.

[illegible] UTMB [illegible] symbol. [illegible] America! Once again bring back [illegible]. Look over the ramparts and say our flag [illegible]. But even more than that, America, look upward, [illegible] this machine of man, and see how [illegible] of the Masterful [illegible].

THE BUG

There was a strange occurrence around the UTMB campus about two weeks ago. Instead of people coming back to school feeling spry, they all seemed to be going home. It all started taking place Saturday, October 26.

On Sunday morning there is usually a big hustle and bustle going on in the girls dorm, but this Sunday morning was different. The girls turned over and went back to sleep. Of course, most people get up by ten or eleven anyway, but these girls slept until eleven-thirty and one. The week-end had been a big one and full of excitement, but there was something else wrong with these girls. As they got up one by one they looked pale and peaked.

There was one smart girl in the dorm, she had a thermometer. The girls slowly made their way to her room to see if their temperature was normal or was playing games. A large majority of the girls found out the same thing. Their temperature was quite a bit above normal.

One could walk down the hall and see girls with seven or eight blankets around them. That soon became a common sight.

One girl got wise and went to a doctor. He told her that she had the flu. Upon her return to the dorm, the girls looked the word up in the dictionary. It was defined as influenza, an epidemic disease. It carried out its name because it became truly an epidemic.

By Tuesday morning, the girls' parents were coming after them. It wasn't strange at all to see girls leaving the dorm with suitcases. By Thursday night, the dorm was deserted. Instead of girls going here and there the halls were peaceful, and most of the girls that were left, were in bed sick.

Saturday morning, there were over a hundred and thirty checked out from the dorm. Most of these had gone home during the week sick.

It matters not how serious something is, but there always is a funny side along with it.

The students have really made a big joke out of it, since they are up and out again. The common question around the UTMB campus has become, "Have you got the bug."

What's Your Answer, Please?

By ANN COX

QUESTION: In your opinion what's lacking on this campus?

CHARLOTTE SULLIVAN: Social events that interest every type person.

L. B. MARSHALL: Students interested in developments.

KATHRYN BOMAR: Unattached boys who are interested in the occupants of the women's dorm.

WAYNE REDMOND: "Home."

NANCY GREENE: The school spirit is lacking and the spirit of some of the girls is too indifferent.

ANN COLTRAIN: Bushes!!!

ANN USSERY: Last fall quarter. "Ditto" Coltrain.

ROYCE RAY: Friendly spirit among all students.

MARY ANN HAGUEWOOD: Too many people go home for the week-end.

BETTY LACY: We lack true student government and we're the only ones who can do anything about it.

JAMES WILHAUCKS: "Money and Pretty Girls."

CAROLYN McCLEAREN: I don't see too much that is lacking.

MARSHALL HUGHES: The main thing is the school spirit.

MARJORIE VOWELL: School spirit: let's all back the basketball team!

DENNIS BELLAMY: Later hours for freshmen girls.

JAMES VAUGHN: Closer communications.

BILLY TOLAR: "Jerry Bargery."

LARRY CARMICHAEL: "Pretty girls."

KAY ATKINS: The spirit of cooperation, the lack of reasonable rules and "ditto" Kathryn Bomar.

HENRY GARRETT: Girls — there are six boys to every girl.

DORIS REEDY: Interest in activities.

DOUG JONES: "Girls!"

MARJORIE HEARN: I need [illegible].

VERNON ADCOCK: There is a lack of enthusiasm for school activities.

JANE ANN GEESSON and ELEANOR GRESHAM: Lacking: Two umbrellas that disappeared while we were eating in the cafeteria about two weeks ago.

Transportation And Attendance Studied At ASC Council Meet

The All Students Club Council met Tuesday, November 5, in the Student Activities Building. President Jere Freeman was in charge of the business meeting. Joe Walker reported for the committee in charge of securing buses for ball games that all the buses were booked for the date of our Millington game. The committee, composed of Joe Walker, Mark Farrar, and Son Scott, was given authority to choose the games to which we will take a bus for UTMB students. The council decided to either see that the cheerleaders have transportation or pay their fare to the games that the student bus is taken to.

It was brought to the attention of the group that the attendance is the council's biggest problem at present. The All Students Club is the one club on the campus to which every student belongs and the ASC Council, composed of the president and ASC representative of each recognized class and organization on the campus, is supposed to be representative of the whole student body. Since it is impossible to get all the students together for each meeting, each council member is expected to represent his club by attending the ASC meetings. The meeting are open to everyone and students are urged to come and see the ASC in action.

If there are matters which need to be brought to the attention of the ASC tell your ASC representative or one of the ASC officers that it may be considered.

An attendance record will be kept of those attending each ASC meeting and will be posted on the bulletin board. Another copy of this record will be sent to the clubs and classes. The group also voted to have reports from the ASC representatives at the individual club meetings to let the students know what's going on in their ASC.

Musical Program Is Presented Here

The Mutual Concert Association presented Ellen Alexander and Brent Williams in a joint recital at the gymnasium Thursday, November 7. Elizabeth Jenkins was the accompanist. Miss Alexander's musicianship and beauty of voice have won her many awards and scholarships. Williams, who is from Fulton, Kentucky, has had many operetta and orchestral engagements and has appeared on television.

the band know that the music will be tops.

The Veterans' Club has planned the entertainment with your enjoyment as their goal, and they sincerely hope that you will take advantage of the entertainment which they have arranged for you.

Although the Veterans' Club may seem rather quiet and inactive this year, its members have been steadily working. Other than planning for the club social, the members have been concentrating on providing special benefits to the Veterans' Club members. One of the results they have obtained is the arrangement with a local service station which enables them to purchase their automobile accessories and fuel at a reduced price.

The Veterans' Club is becoming a better aid to the Vet as well as an organization with a name for getting things done.

If you are a Veteran and have not joined the club, you are missing a lot of good fellowship as well as many advantages. The Vets invite you to join the ranks of the discharged.

Marines To Invade Campus For Recruits

The Marine Officer Procurement Team will visit the University of Tennessee Martin Branch on December 5 and 6. While on the campus they will talk with students who are interested in earning a Marine Commission.

Qualified students may enroll in one of three courses: the Platoon Leaders Class, Officer Candidate Course, and the Aviation Officer Candidate Course.

The Platoon Leaders Class is designed for the college undergraduate. Students in the program attend training during two summer vacations from college. The classes are of six weeks duration. The training will be conducted at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia. It is designed to provide the initial leadership development and necessary military introduction to prepare college men for appointment to the rank of Second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve. Commissions are awarded on graduation from college.

The Officer Candidate Course is designed for college seniors. Candidates selected are enrolled during their senior year or after graduation. The Officer Candidate Course is a ten week training period conducted at Quantico, Virginia, after graduation. Commissions are awarded on successful completion of the ten week course.

The Aviation Officer Candidate Course is designed for the college student interested in earning a Commission in the field of aviation. Applicants for this course must be seniors or recent graduates. On completion of ten weeks pre-commission training they will receive their appointments to the rank of Second Lieutenant. After receiving their Commissions they will go to Pensacola, Florida, for an intensive fifteen to eighteen months of flight training as a Marine aviation officer.

Women's Intramurals

By HARRIETTE LAVENUE

Intramurals are really in full swing. The gym is a hum of activity each day from 5 to 6 with men's and women's volleyball. Also during the day table tennis keeps things buzzing.

In table tennis we are in the middle of round 3. The deadline for round 3 is Tuesday, November 26. This year 144 girls are participating in the tournament.

The 1956 champion, Doris Hettinger of Blue team, and runner-up, Johnnie Alexander of Red team, will have stiff competition from such contenders as Kay Odem, Norma Swhmn, Hulane Brooks, Beverly Pouncy, and Jane Ann Greeson. A lot of the girls are coming over and putting in quite a bit of practice. This will help their team as well as the team member. Remember the winner and runner-up both receive a medal.

In the women's intramural volleyball Brown and White teams have advanced to the semi-finals. Wednesday, November 20, two semi-final games will be played. One will be Brown team vs. the winner of Green vs. Red and the other will be White team vs. the winner of Black vs. Orange. The finals will be played November 25. If won-loss records mean anything White team should hold the upper hand.

The team captains are really proud of the turnout for intramurals. This year the Freshmen as well as the upper classmen have really been joining into the intramural activity. Some Freshmen who have really shown interest are: Beverly Pouncey, June McDaniels, Peggy Peeples, Becky Cashon, Peggy Davis and Harriet Roberson.

Sophomore Wins Parade Contest

Herbert Morris, a sophomore, entered the best decorated car in the homecoming parade. The theme for his entry was "Stranded in the Middle of an Island." Using a convertible, with the back brightly decorated, Herbert and Robbie, his wife, played the parts of Indians around a fire.

The second place prize went to Eleanor Gresham, a junior. Her theme was "Sew Em Up." The car was wrapped so tightly the doors wouldn't open with a net affair.

Guy Robbins, a senior, took the third prize with "A Guided Missile." He had a tin foil guided missile displayed on the trunk of his entry.

"DOIN'S BREWIN'"

By BARBARA BROOKS

If you haven't had the Asian flu, written for "Bull Session," or seen Sputnik filled with little green men with pasty white faces, you didn't make the news this month (almost). The campus has been buzzin' as loudly as it ever does with talk of these things as well as all the UTMBers blessed with their very own radio programs, the crowning of Miss Slopslinger, the Vanguard Theater production, and all the events planned for the next few weeks.

• • • •

Have you all heard of our campus celebrities who are taking over the controls of the radio stations in this vicinity with a bang? Last month we mentioned L. B. Marshall and Larry Barber, but since then something new has been added. L. B. now has a program dedicated to UTMB students and it's called "Listen to Louie" featuring Louie's List of the ten top tunes on the campus. Tune in WCMT around 3 most any Sunday and you're bound to hear the latest! Another UTMBer on WCMT is Jimmy Townsend and his "golden voice," who can be heard starting every day around 12:30! In Fulton on WFUL, UTMB is well represented with Kellie Lowe (for the early birds—he starts at 7 A. M.!) and Norman Allison in the afternoons about 4:30. So I guess we can come to the conclusion that if you don't have a radio program, you're just a nobody. Oh, well!

• • • •

Last Thursday was the long awaited day for the "slopslingers" here at UTMB. That was the day they crowned their "Sweetheart" and her "maids." Sweetheart is Glenda Pritchett; first maid, Sue Palmer; second maid, Janice Whitson; third maid, Carolyn Washam; and alternate maids, Mary E. Grabiel, Eleanor Gresham, Ruth Dodson and Donna Johnston.

• • • •

Towel racks, study lamps, full length mirrors, and bulletin boards are the newest additions to the new girls' dorm. Boy, are they ever coming in there! You never know what's coming next.

• • • •

A special bow to Vanguard for their magnificent production of the "Glass Menagerie." If you didn't attend at least one of the performances, you really missed something. Mary Catherine, Peggy, Jimmy, and Kellie were just terrific. Congratulations to them, J. Robert Swain, and all the others who helped to make the play really something to remember!

• • • •

Governor Frank Clement was on the campus Sunday-before-last to view the new dorm which he helped to instigate. The rooms were really spic and span and probably won't be quite so until he puts in his next appearance.

• • • •

Tonight we're in for a real treat when Robert Stewart of our music department faculty presents a concert. It will be at 8 P. M. in the gym. Let's all go out and hear some truly fine entertainment. Often we fail to support these cultural phases of our campus life, but it would and should be an integral part of our activities if we stopped to realize how much hard work goes into this phase which ought to play a big part in our lives. Golly, that sounds like a sermon, doesn't it?

• • • •

Club Sees Movie

The Home Economics Club held its regular meeting on October 21 at 7:00 p.m. in room 200 of the ABL Building. A short business meeting was held. Everyone enjoyed the movie, "French Tapestries Visit America," which was presented by Miss Van Denburg.

Students Tell Experiences

The next meeting of the Home Economics Club was held on November 4 at 7:00 p.m. in room 111 of the ABL Building. After a short business meeting three Home Economics students told of their work this summer and of the careers they are planning.

Eleanor Gresham told of her experiences in the Fashion Department of Lowenstein's and how this job might be obtained. Joyce Bizzelle and Joyce Thomason told of their studies in the Foods Department at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

Refreshments were served by the Ag boys.

Fashions and Fads

By ELEANOR GRESHAM

With this the last week before Thanksgiving, it seems all thoughts are in the direction of home and the well-earned holidays. And a look in the closets of the residents of the women's dorm presents an even greater array of thoughts—even concerning Thanksgiving and maybe ole Tom Turkey.

It seems turkey and all the trimmings are the traditional mainstay of the Thanksgiving meal, and likewise lots of "trimmings" are "the thing" on UT-MB's campus. They range from collars to belts to scarves, etc.

Sue Wimberly owns a popular number in the blouse with the roll-up sleeves, which continues to gain momentum around here. Hers is of a "sea blue," some shade similar to that ye old pilgrims lived on for so long a while. The feature of Sue's blouse is the detachable collar which buttons on; maybe one should say collars, for there is a tailored shirt style collar and also a laced-trimmed reversible color, one side with a row of embroidered trim. A wise selection for a college co-ed who so loves versatility in her wardrobe!

Also in collars, it's still a rage to have them of the same fabric as skirts, whether tweed or solid. Not missing a trick are Joyce Bizelle and Kay Atkins, who selected solid and tweed, respectively.

Pilgrim women, since they have been mentioned, also matched their spotless collars with cuffs, and Kay Atkins also matches her tweed wool skirt and collar with cuffs. A striking and individual-looking outfit is the result, when donned by Kay.

Another "trim" or accessory for the co-ed's neck is the classic scarf, this year popular in chiffon as well as silk and in larger sizes as well. Carolyn McCorkle has a larger-style print in varying shades of blue, which gives a casual look when tied to the side. Just as a sailor in Pilgrim days or present days was or is thought of as the ultimate when it comes to knot-tying, gals around UTMB gain new experience every day, for scarves have definitely made a place for themselves. Lawanna Walker is another of those people who is no doubt an expert at this, for she owns a multitude of printed scarves in the smaller size, with which she adds a fresh airy topping to her outfits.

It seems Ann Coltrain is the main "plugger" of a new way of wearing scarves — just peeping around the top of either a slipover or buttoned cardigan sweater. It is along the same principle of filling in the neckline of a suit or dress; and Linda Ross is a real backer of the latter.

Although the preceding are only a few ways of wearing scarves, it's easy to see why they're as popular as Plymouth Rock was the day the "big voyage" was concluded.

And when the Mayflower was unloaded, as well as when the first Thanksgiving Day was celebrated, it's a cinch, there were some gay people. That is about the only word to describe a freshman by the name of Margaret Hamer too; that is, when she puts on her Bermuda socks with her street clothes. This, by the way, is very popular up north and in larger cities and on larger college campuses. Margaret's selection of red was in keeping with the red plaid skirt and blouse she was wearing. The blouse had a convertible collar and roll-up sleeves, and the circular skirt to match was quilted. It was very "m-m-m-o-o-ph," as is the popular cry!

MISS GRESHAM

One might think that would be the cry of some animal in the wilderness, but it was started last year on the campus (however, it's been said it was derived from an elephant's call — who knows?!) Really, there's nothing to be scared of. They continue to gain in popularity; scarves mentioned previously, another feature will be mentioned—that of belts. Glenda Pritchett accents her black skirt and blouse with a contour belt of leopard skin; these belts, unlike the scarves, actually feel like the "real" thing, but actually who can truly say? Personally, I never felt a leopard and don't have the urge as of now!

Although not under the head of trimmings, several girls' closets do "house" the "real" thing. Yes, real mouton (or mutton—). An amusing conversation was heard the other day: One co-ed said, "I don't have any money; there's not a mouton in my closet." To which her friend replied, "I don't have any money either; there is a mouton in my closet!" It sounds like the cry during Thanksgiving for some gals will be "a hunting we will go," as is the theme-song for all the guys. Lucky owners of these luxurious jackets on UTMB's campus include Sue Palmer, Ann Ussery, Barbara Brooks, Sandra Roush, Donna Johnston and Sandra Smith.

Whether it's the trimmings you go in for, or whether you like to buy the entire outfit when it comes to something new, here's hoping your Thanksgiving holidays are the best ever and that your return to the campus will result in lots of new Fashions and Fads!

Missionaries Speak At Noon Devotions

The Baptist Student Union will have foreign and home missionaries as guest speakers at Noonday Devotion November 18-27. Mrs. Lula Sparkman Terry, missionary emeritus to North Brazil, will speak Monday, November 18. Tuesday Mrs. Sam T. Mayo, field worker of the Baptist Home Mission Board, will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Mayo visited the UTMB campus about three years ago.

The devotional Wednesday will be brought by Dr. H. M. Harris, who was missionary to China for thirty-five years. He is an authority on China and apt at presenting Chinese proverbs. Also from the Far East is Miss Grace Wells, who does missionary work in Indonesia. She served in China until she was forced to leave during World War II. After the war she returned to China but had to leave again when the Communists occupied the country. She will speak to the group Thursday.

Friday Miss Anne Laseter, emeritus mission to Chile, will bring the devotional. Mrs. Robert L. Bascum, missionary to Taiwan, will speak Monday, November 25, and Mr. John L. Bice, emeritus missionary to North Brazil, will speak Tuesday. Rev. Roy C. Watson will close the Mission Emphasis Weeks with the devotional Wednesday, November 27. He is a home-missionary to New Mexico.

The Baptist Student Union is grateful to the Wesley Foundation for making their facilities available for these meetings. The meetings begin at 12:25 p.m. and will be over in time for the one o'clock classes.

The UTMB students are fortunate to have an opportunity to hear such outstanding speakers. Every student is urged to attend.

PRESBYTERIAN GROUP MEETS EACH SUNDAY

The newly organized Presbyterian Fellowship, for all Presbyterians and anyone interested in being a part of this group, is now meeting regularly each Sunday night at 5:45 at the Martin Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Supper is provided by some of the church members and afterwards the group assembles for an inspirational program: The leader for the program rotates each Sunday giving opportunity for new ideas in programs and thought.

Since this is a relatively small group action has been taken to increase attendance and interest by getting those not in some other Sunday night fellowship group to come to the Presbyterian Fellowship. A contest is now in session between two teams to see which team can get the most members and visitors present for the Sundays from now until Christmas. The losing side will entertain the winning team with a Christmas party before the quarter ends. If you don't attend some other group on Sunday night come on over to the Cumberland Presbyterian Church and join in the fellowship.

Home Remodeled Into Music Building

Musical activities which have been in the building in front of the Women's Residence Hall will now be held in the white frame house behind the cafeteria. The house, which has been remodeled, has petitions taken out, new walls, two classrooms, two practice rooms and an office for Miss Fulton.

Bidders were to have come on Monday, November 18, to inspect the old music building so they can make their bids.

Reed Hall Changes From Dorm Mother To Dorm Daddies

Reed Hall has changed supervisors. Mrs. Cora Campbell, manager of the cafeteria, was formerly the dorm mother but has resigned from this position. She has been replaced by "dorm daddies" Raymond Bryant and Nelson Edwards, who moved into the hostess suite on November 11.

Bryant is a senior from Covington and is majoring in Agriculture. He is a former vice-president of the YF&H and is now "chief slopslinger."

Edwards, a junior, is an Education from Crockett Mills. He is presently serving as president of the FTA.

Bryant and Edwards were chosen by the Administration Council on the basis of scholarship, character and leadership ability.

Birthday Calendars Go On Sale Nov. 25

Do you have a newly acquired boy friend or girl friend on campus? Do you have a favorite teacher or a special friend? Why not remember them on their birthdays with a gift, a card, or just plain "Happy Birthday."

Birthday calendars containing the birthdates of all students and faculty will go on sale November 25 in the Student Activity Center at 25c each. The calendars, prepared by Home Economics girls, are an annual fund-raising project of the Home Economics Club.

Remember to get calendar at the book store November 25! "Happy Birthday!"

King Ralvh Johnson of Scotts Hill and Queen Charlotte Taylor of Sharon reigned over the Barnwarmin' dance held Saturday, October 26. The social affair concluded the Homecoming week-end festivities.

'Miss Slopslinger' Is Crowned At Suspenseful Event

Tensions at the UTMB cafeteria mounted as the early days of November passed. Thursday, November 14, had been carefully selected by the workers of the Assorted Foods Dept. as "the day of importance." On this day "Miss Slopslinger" of 1957-58 would be crowned. Posters and announcements were seen or heard publicizing the gala event. Photographers and news correspondents were anxiously awaiting the heralded moment.

At a recent meeting of the "Slopslingers" the officers of the coming year were elected, and installed. Selected as Chief Slopslinger was Ray Bryant, a junior in Agriculture, from Covington. Other officers elected to serve during the 1957-58 school year were: First Vice-Slopslinger, Larry Smith of Decaturville; Second-Vice Slopslinger, Glen Dyer of Petersburg; Third Vice-Slopslinger, George "Goose" Gossett of Holladay; Secretary, Joel (Bartender) Parker of Selmer; Treasurer, Bill Stanfill of Henderson. Due to her masculinity (and his take-charge attitude) Fred Clark of Louisville, Kentucky, was elected Sergeant-at-Arms of the organization. Other officers consisted of "Taskmaster of the Salt Mines," Kenneth (Kid) Brannon of McKenzie; Captain of the Pots Dept., Dan Shanklin of Dresden.

Representing the "slopslingers" in the public relations field is Melvin Humphreys of Paris. His chief duty is compensating with the bystanders for undue amount of slop received at inopportune times. Last, but not least, the crudest slopslinger was shelected for his unwilling service above and beyond the call of duty. John Crenshaw of Trenton was unanimously elected. His main pride comes from caring for the mascot of the organization, "Cruddie the Kitten."

At the stroke of noon the program began with the introduction of the above officers. Suspense mounted as Honorable Mentions were named. These were: Donna Johnston of South Fulton, Mary Grabiel of Paris, Ruth Dodson of Parsons and Eleanor Gresham of Cordova. As the applause paused Melvin Humphreys, the Master of Ceremonies, announced the name of the maids: third maid, Janice Whitson of Trimble; second maid, Carolyn Washern of Parsons, first maid, Sue Palmer of South Fulton. These maids were presented autographed dish towels by the vice-slopslingers.

The tension and silence could be cut with a dull knife as the spellbound crowd anxiously awaited the grand finale. The basis of the election was beauty, charm, friendliness and above all, femininity. Out of the vast number of candidates, a lovely sophomore in Business Ad. from Dyersburg was elected. This lovely sophomore is Miss Glenda Pritchett. She was presented with an autographed apron, which also displayed her title, as a cherishing memory of this coveted honor. Her one requirement was to sling a plateful of slop. This climaxed an eventful day in the lives of the Workers of the Assorted Food Department of the UTMB cafeteria. Long the days and many the sleepless nights before anyone forgets the pleasant memory.

Business Discussed By Senior Class

By JOYCE BIZZELLE

Two meetings were held in room 211, ABL Building, to discuss Senior Class business. The date of the meetings were October 21 and November. The business was much the same at both times and this is a culminative report and this a cumulative report Bill Owens, president, called the meeting to order and the minutes were read and approved.

First discussion was in reference to the scholarship basketball game which is sponsored by the seniors each year. Proceeds go to the basketball scholarships.

Next item of business was the Senior pictures. We contacted a studio in Jackson and the pictures were taken on October 29. The proofs have been received since that time and the Seniors are deciding on the final pose.

The Seniors regret that the Junior-Senior party scheduled for November 2 was called off due to "dat ole flu bug." But that's all right. There will be another time.

UTMB SPORTS

Boost the Vols

Vol Cagers To Play 19 Game Schedule Before Tournament

The Vols will play 19 games this year, according to the schedule as given the VOLETTE this week by the athletic department. A total of 12 games will be played at home and 7 on the road. The team will be out to improve on last year's 7 and 13 record, and with most of last year's regulars back, should be a cinch to do this.

UT will conclude its season by taking part in the Volunteer State Athletic Conference tournament at Nashville. Dates are February 20-22. This will be the first tournament entered by a Vol team since the late 40's. UT was accepted as a member of the VSAC conference last year.

Coach Floyd Burdette has called this year's schedule the "toughest in UTMB history." How good the Vols will be should be seen early, as some of the toughest opponents appear early on the schedule. UT will play Christian Brothers College of Memphis here November 26. The two teams will be meeting each other after a two-year layoff when it appeared that relations were in need of a cooling off period. CBC opened its schedule last week by downing Bethel 77-70.

Oakland City College of Indiana will appear for a two-night series the same week. The Vols played a similar series at Oakland City last year and dropped both games. The year before the Indiana team lost a single game here.

Other highlights of the schedule are a home and home series with Delta State, one of the top small colleges of the South, the first appearance at UT of Missouri School of Mines, and a game against Belmont College at Nashville. Also scheduled are the usual home and home series with such teams as Lambuth, Union, Freed-Hardeman, and Paducah.

The complete schedule is as follows:

NOVEMBER

Fri., Nov. 22—Athens College, H
Sat., Nov. 22—Freed-Hardeman, T
Tues., Nov. 26—Christian Brothers College, H
Fri., Nov. 29—Oakland City College, H
Sat., Nov. 30—Oakland City College, H

DECEMBER

Fri., Dec. 6—Delta State, H
Tues., Dec. 9—Paducah, H
Sat., Dec. 21—Missouri School of Mines, H

JANUARY

Thurs., Jan. 9—Belmont, T
Tues., Jan. 14—Union University, T
Sat., Jan. 18—Paducah, T
Tues., Jan. 21—Christian Brothers College, T
Sat., Jan. 25—Union University, H
Thurs., Jan. 30—Lambuth, T

FEBRUARY

Sat., Feb. 8—Lambuth, H
Tues., Feb. 11 — Freed-Hardeman, H
Sat., Feb. 8—Lambuth, H
Tues., Feb. 11—Freed-Hardeman, H
Sat., Feb. 15—Delta State, T
Feb. 20-22—V.S.A.C. Tournament, Nashville

Six Lettermen On Vol Squad

By MAURICE FIELD

This year's Vols will hit the hardwood with the intent of beating last year's below par record of seven wins and thirteen losses.

The '57-'58 Vol team will be composed of several seasoned men with only the fear of the sophomore jinx riding over their head.

Leading the pack will be Edward Jones of Benton, Kentucky. Jones in a profound effort broke seven records in his initial year at UTMB. His record of 381 points in one season smashed the old record of 248 points, held by Bob Kirk, for a Freshman. It was second high to the all-time record for a season held by Joe "Nip" McKnight. These 381 points gave Jones an average of 20.05 points per game.

Besides being high point man, Jones committed the least fouls for a season as he was charged with only 33. In keeping with this Jones played the entire season as a regular without fouling out.

In the free throw department Jones had the most attempts in one game with 17 and the most attempts in a season with 160. He connected on 14 in the single incident and 115 during the season. All of these go down as records.

Bill Rucker of Lebanon, Indiana, held the regular center position and scored 193 points for an average of 10.15 points per game. Rucker was one of the mainstays off the backboards, as he pulled in a large number of rebounds.

James Hart of Scotts Hill came in third among the returnees with 119 points and an average of 6.15 points per game. Hart improved greatly and was one of the fastest men on the team. He was also able assistance to the big men on the backboards.

Bobby Gregory, hailing from Trimble, was the smallest man on the team, but he checked in 97 points for an average of 5.1 points per game. Despite his short stature he took a lot of rebounds.

James Wilhauks, coming from South Fulton and a near undefeated season in high school, dropped in 63 points for the Vols to have an average of 3.62 points per game. Wilhauks did some fine rebounding and tipping to do along with his wicked left-handed shooting.

Bob Pipkin from Toone did a fine job at center as he picked up 37 points and a 2.84 points per game average.

Rucker, Hart, Gregory and Jones played in twenty games. Wilhauks followed closely as he entered sixteen. Pipkin played in thirteen games. Each of these men lettered for their first time last year.

The team as a whole set several new records. The old high score record for a game (109) was broken as the Vols stomped the Trenton Independents to set a new record of 121 points. Also in this game the old record of 52 field goals was stretched to 54.

Over the season UTMB scored 1400 points to their opponents' 1387 points. This gave the Vols an average of 77.77 points per game to 77.05 for the opposition. They connected on 579 shots at the bucket from the floor while taking advantage of 343 of 527 chances from the foul-line.

Looking at Sports

By winning Friday's night's game against Memphis Navy, the Vols had their best season percentage-wise since the undefeated season of 1936. And though the Baylor loss was by a decisive score, there are many who will say that a second game might produce a decidedly different result.

Credit for the fine season goes to the Vol coaches, Carroll and Penny, and to a determined, hard-working squad. The ground work for the season really started last summer when Coach Carroll began making the rounds of high schools of West Tennessee to interest boys in coming to the school.

More spade-work was done at the pre-season camp when the two coaches really got the squad in shape by long hours of hard work on conditioning and fundamentals. This separated the men from the boys and left a squad that didn't mind the work, since the results were so apparent.

Of the home games, probably those against Arkansas State and NW Mississippi were the top team efforts. Granted the score was much more decisive against West Georgia, but all would agree that the caliber of opposition was not the same. On the road, the top game must have been the final one against Navy.

The current squad was one of the most alert ever to play here. In game after game, the Vols started scoring drives on capitalizing on misplays of the opposition; enemy fumbles were recovered, passes were intercepted, and ball carries were thrown for losses. And on offense, the same alertness was shown with plays going for yardage that had looked like losses at the start.

Basketball Underway

The time between the end of one sport and start of another is about the shortest on record at UTMB. With football ending on a Friday, basketball starts the next Monday and really gets into a full head of steam in the following two weeks.

UTMB will start a team with a strong nucleus of veterans. Captain Jimmy Young and Paul Kelley are the main losses while a budding star, James Vowell, is not back. However, such promising freshmen as Ed Jones, Bill Rucker, James Hart, and Jim Wilhaucks are back. Jones was brilliant last season as he set an all-time freshman scoring record and moved into second place among all season scorers for UT. Rucker developed mightily over the season and should score well, while Hart at time rivalled Jones, and needs only to play at his potential consistently. Gregory was a smooth floorman and Wilhaucks should be greatly improved this season.

Coach Burdette is now in his sixth season with the Vols and has had only two below-500 records. These were the first year when he started from scratch and last year, when he once again had to rebuild after losing the first great team which ran wild for three years while setting all-time records in every category. With a group of promising freshmen in back of last year's lettermen, fans should have plenty to shout about in the weeks to come.

Sports In General

Union University is really going all out this year in scheduling opponents. The team has played Ole Miss for the last two years, and has added this time Mississippi State and Memphis State, the latter NIT runnersup last spring. Of the three, Memphis State is undoubtedly the most rugged opponent and some astronomical scores may result, though with Union on the short end.

Ole Miss downed big UT Saturday for only the third time in 26 tries. The game was exciting chiefly from the seats of the Ole Miss rooters, as UT did not do too much until its one real scoring drive late in the game.

UT saw its famed "play cautious and wait for a break" football boomerang. The Vols punted on first down from deep in their territory, stopped an Ole Miss drive, then punted from their three in second down only to have Ole Miss run the punt back to the 2. This early down punting usually pays off for UT, but not last week.

Ole Miss was just as cautious. Leading 7-0, they had the ball on the UT 29 with fourth and 1, and PUNTED. According to the press reports, the Ole Miss coaches weren't too happy with this, and the gain was practically nil since the kick went into the end zone and UT took over on the 20, only 9 yards deeper than the play started.

Also trailing 0-7, UT had the ball on the Ole Miss 34 with 4th down and punted, again into the end zone. Also, UT was penalized and at the end of the play Ole Miss had first on its 35, one yard ahead of where the ball went into play. Personally, this is a bit too cautious for us, but we don't make $20,000 a year like Bowden Earp er we mean Wyatt.

Of teams in this section, we think that the Arkansas Razorzacks have been involved in more exciting games (though not necessarily better) than any other team. We couldn't have felt any worse than the No. 1 Hog fan when that attempted field goal that would have beaten Texas A. & M. went wide. And their game last week against SMU was in the same vein. But why think of those when that 12-6 win against Ole Miss is also one for the books.

Well, the football season has been a good one, so may king basketball now take over on the local scene and give the rooters their night to howl.

Baylor Downs Vols For UTMB First Loss Or Great Season

The Vols dropped their first game of the season November 8 when they lost a 31-13 game to Baylor School of Chattanooga. It marked the third win in three tries for Baylor against the Vols. UT now has a 5 and 1 record for the seoson.

Coach Robert Carroll stated that the Vols "simply made too many mistakes, both in executing plays and in thinking them." He added that faulty punting hurt the team more than any other single thing, with UT having a punting average of about 14 yards.

Baylor twice took over deep in Vol territory after very short punts and a third time when a punt could not be gotten away. These breaks were just too much for the Vols to overcome.

UT was able to do little on offense, with Fowler being held in complete check for the first time this season. In fact, according to Coach Carroll, "we were backed into our own territory almost the entire game."

The Vols got off to a flying start when the opening kickoff was returned 92 yards for a touchdown with Kendrick crossing the goal. The play started when Hawkins took the kick on his 8 and ran to the 15, where he handed off to Kendrick who ran the final 85 yards.

Baylor tied the score with Senn going 24 yards. Baylor got the ball on the UT 24 following a short punt. Both kicks were missed and the quarter ended in a 6-6 dead lock.

Baylor scored twice in the second quarter to put the game out of reach. Senn scored the tie breaker from the 1 after another UT punt gave Baylor the ball on the UT 4. Halfback Baucom also scored before the half, which ended with Baylor ahead, 19-6.

Following a scoreless third period, Baylor scored twice in the fourth. Barr scored from 2 yards out and Crosby scored on a 51 yard pass and run from Senn.

UT scored its final touchdown in the final minutes on a 58 yard Bayless to Deverell pass.

UTMB	6	0	0	7—13
Baylor	6	13	0	12—31

UTMB Scoring—Kendrick (85, handoff from Hawkins on kickoff return). Deverell (58, pass from Bayless). Conversion—Lowe.

Baylor Scoring—Senn 2 (24 run, 1 run), Baucom (4, run), Barr (2, plunge), Crosby (51, pass-run from Senn). Conversion—Crosby.

New Players Will Be On Cage Team

By MAURICE FIELD

The only two year veterans to play for the Vols are both transfers. Both of these men are Juniors and will add a lot of experience to the squad. Besides the transfers a good crop of Freshmen will be trying for berths on the team.

Bill Brown hails from Paducah Junior College and will be at center. Brown is a smooth operator around the key hole and is a good rebounder.

Jack King, a transfer from Lambuth College, will be much in the running at forward. King is a fine shooter from outside as well as inside and has a lot of drive and hustle.

In the Freshmen ranks Karl Gunther of Gary, Indiana, and Herman Rippy of Nashville will be very much in the race for the forward spots.

Pushing Jones and Gregory for the guard positions will be Buddy Viniard of Kenton, Don Jackson of Benton, Kentucky, Hank Thompson of Nashville and Larry Forgy of Lewisburg, Kentucky. Viniard last year was named the most valuable player in the Tennessee State Tournament. Jackson claims the title of being the fastest man on the squad.

The probable starters will be: center, Brown; forwards, Rucker and Hart; guards, Jones and Gregory.

Women's Volleyball Team Takes All At Meet In Memphis

By HARRIETTE LAVENUE

Women's volleyball playday was held at Memphis State University Saturday, November 16. Teams representing colleges from the states of Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Mississippi attended.

UTMB played and won four games during the day. Teams played by UTMB were Murray State, Union University, Siena College, and Bethel College. The scores were:

UTMB 35, Murray State 30
UTMB 45, Union 29
UTMB 33, Siena 23
UTMB 40, Bethel 28

The team members who went to Memphis from UTMB were: Ann Coltrain, Ann Ussery, Norma Roberson, Becky Cashon, Harriette Lavenue, Melba Whitesides, Johnnie Alexander, Sue Wimberly, Beverly Dawson, and Sarah Montgomery. The coaches were Miss Bettye Giles and Miss Nadine Gearin.

The team arrived in Memphis Saturday morning at nine o'clock. On arrival Captain Norma Roberson met with the captains of the fifteen other teams and discussed the day's activity. From 10 o'clock until 12 o'clock two games were played by each team there. At 12 o'clock a luncheon was held at the University Cafeteria. After the luncheon entertainment was provided by Memphis State. That evening each team played their last two games. The UTMB women's volleyball team arrived at Martin that evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Giles and Miss Gearin stated that they were really proud of the team and also if they had to pick one outstanding player for the day their choice would be Ann Coltrain.

FACULTY TO HAVE DUTCH SUPPER

A Dutch Supper will be held Thursday night for members of the faculty and their families. The Faculty Women's Club is sponsoring the supper and social hour, which will begin at 6:15 at the cafeteria.

Turkey will be the basic dish of the supper. Various games will be set up for the social side of the affair.

Mrs. John M. Gibbens is chairman of the sponsoring committee.

Improvement Shown By ROTC Rifle Team

The ROTC rifle team is improving steadily and is showing the qualities of a winning team. The team recently went to Murray State College for a shoulder-to-shoulder match with the ROTC team there. Although the team lost members were satisfied and happy with the results, since the team was firing against third and fourth year ROTC members and was beaten by only 40 points, which is very good.

The team is practicing every week, shooting from every firing position. At the end of each week the high scores for the top five men are mailed to some other school, and they in turn mail their top scores here.

The team has improved to such an extent that almost all the members are now eligible for the ROTC Small-bore Rifleman's expert badge. The high scorer for the team is still Cpl. Dan Shanklin, who has a score of 385 points out of a possible 400.

The team is scheduled to take part in the William Randolph Hearst Army ROTC Rifle Match Nov. 15 and Dec. 15. This is a nation-wide ROTC postal match. They are later scheduled for the 3rd Army Intercollegiate and Interscholastic ROTC Match during February.

Pride of Southland Band Visits Campus

Members of the University of Tennessee's Pride of the Southland Band were guests at the University's Martin campus, Friday, November 15.

The band, which was directed by Walter M. Ryba, gave a short concert and field demonstration on the football field at 7:30 Friday evening.
